

Sunrise Oilfield Supply, Inc. Announces Organizational Changes

Sunrise Oilfield Supply, Inc. announced organizational changes to their corporate structure. Jeff Bloomer, currently the Chief Financial Officer and Chief Operating Officer at Sunrise, will assume the duties of President effective immediately. Mike Reed, who has been with Sunrise for 30 years, will remain as CEO.

Mike Reed said “Jeff is quite deserving of this promotion as his past involvement of leading large, multi-national companies will serve Sunrise well as we are expanding our footprint to other geographic regions outside our core market of Kansas and SW Nebraska. This also enables me to concentrate on building the market in the Rockies region supporting our Brighton, Colorado and New Town, North Dakota locations, as well as, exploring other development opportunities. Jeff’s prior involvement in Sunrise over 25 years ago plus his most recent 6 year tenure enhances the cohesiveness of our team while focusing on the growth of our future.”

Sunrise Oilfield Supply is Kansas’ largest oilfield supply company and has been in business since 1979. Their corporate headquarters is located in Wichita, KS and they have 11 store locations covering four states.