

White Knight Drilling LLC Formed

A new drilling company has been formed to serve operators and producers in the north central and northwest Kansas areas. White Knight Drilling LLC began contract drilling operations in June this year. The firm operates a fully re-furbished Emsco 250-B drawworks, a Gardner Denver FXQ mud system powered by Detroit diesels and is equipped with all new drill pipe. The rotary rig features a 97 ft tall Lee C Moore derrick mounted on a 5 ft substructure with a drilling capacity reaching depths up to 5,500 ft. Darrel Anderson is Toolpusher.

Jerry Green, managing partner, said “One unique thing we offer over other contractors is the introduction of four 4-man crews. We have three very experienced crews plus a fourth “roamer” crew that allows us to better serve our clients needs. The extra crew allows us to assist in crew relief assuring non-stop drilling operations, as well as provides us with the opportunity to regularly maintain the high quality standards of rig maintenance.”
